25 YEARS OF EXCELLENCE

John Glenn High School-Past, Present, And Future

Throughout the past 25 years there have been many changes in the world, and John Glenn High School has don its part in keeping up with these changing times. Both the students and the campus itself reflect the modern world i which we live, but looking back over the years, it is hard to believe how many changes were made to bring us whe we are today.

When the school first opened there were only 650 students. Twenty-five years later this number has more tha tripled. Our first graduation was held at La Mirada Stadium and later was moved to our "outdoor stage", where onl four people could be invited by each senior. As the number of students grew, a demand for space at graduatio became apparent, so graduation was moved to our field where it is still held today. Because of the increase i students, many additions were made on the campus, such as the science buildings, bungalows, and an extension o the gymnasium — but many of our faculty members recalled times when there weren't any conveniences such a these. In fact, through the years, what is now known as the counseling office has served for everything from a classroom to a locker room for the football team. In the beginning of the first year there was only the "VW" bel system. Administrators had to drive their cars (many of them VW's) on campus after each period and honk thei horns to let students know that class was over. The initial days of the opening of the school were not only rough o the teachers and students but also on the cafeteria staff. The first few days, lunch was prepared and served in th library on paper trays, because at the time there was no cafeteria. In time the architectural adjustments were mad and, aside from a change in the physical appearance of the school there was a change in the people and their values

Our teachers remember the strict dress code enforced on both students and faculty in the early years as opposed to now. Boys had to wear pants (no jeans) and shirts with the tails tucked in. Girls were required to wear nice blouses and skirts at or below the knees. On first offense, if these codes were violated, the students were sent home and repimanded. Second offenses risked suspension and expulsion. The recommended teacher's attire was formal — women in appropriate school dresses and men in suits with ties. Today, students and teachers have much more freedom in their style of dressing. Most agree that there is now a more relaxed attitude towards dressing for both students and teachers. Our faculty members also noted a great change in the students. Students seem to show a more serious attitude toward learning, and many more show an interest in advanced education. Besides an interes in academics, there is more of an interest in people. Students today show that they are more open and caring fo others — a good example of this is our peer counseling group.

Though all things must change, we hope that these attitudes will remain the same over the years. With this i mind, we offer this Silver Anniversary issue in honor of our 25th year, our tribute to John Glenn High School — past present, and future.

As in the rest of the country that black day, November 22, 1963, began as all other days at John H. Glenn High School. Then, fourth period, the rumor spread through the classrooms: "The President has been shot!"
By lunch time it was confirmed. John F. Kennedy, the President of the United States, was dead. A hush settled over the campus. Students, huddled in little groups, talked in quiet tones. The cafetorium radio was turned full volume and hundreds of students listened disbelievingly and some wept openly. It was a day in every high school student's life that will forever remain engraved on the memory.

FOR SILVER ANNIVERSARY

CLASS OF 1987

Through The Years

There we were, the big and mighty senior class of 1987, using our superiority to its fullest extent by picking on the under classmen. What had happened? Had we forgotten that we were once 8th graders?

Dig into your memory box and pull out the memories of our first day in high school. Remember seeing all the fresh new faces and trying to adjust to this school? Everything was new to us, but we did have one thing in common. We made friends and united as the "awesome class of 1987"! Even though we were not allowed to go to pep rallies, we kept our own 87 pride alive.

Then we were known as "Fantastic Freshmen". We were greeted with long lunch lines and big upper classmen! Remember trying to win the spirit stick at all the pep rallies and the realization that our semester grades started to count?

Soon we were "Sophisticated Sophomores". Finally getting to take Driver's Ed and facing the simulators. We encountered harder classes and the proficiency test.

But we survived and became "Jammin Juniors". Remember the excitement of Powder Puff week and the fantastic night of the Junior and Senior Prom at the Queen Mary? Those were great memories!

Finally we became "Sensational Seniors" with so much to do and so little time to do it in. We finally got our yearbook pictures in color and our Senior Rise at the pep rallies. Remember our very own Senior Square and our special 25th homecoming festivities? Let's not forget Grad Nite, Powder Puff 1987, or our Senior Prom. No one can forget the lasting friendships that we've made through the years and the enthusiastic spirit of the class of 1987 uniting as one. These are sweet memories that should be treasured and never forgotten.

As you close your memory box, hold the key tight. Remember where you store it; you might want to open it again someday. This book will come in handy in the future. Now close your eyes, take a deep breath and sigh . . . "we've made it!" Always remember that we were the mighty class of 1987 from John Glenn High-Our Alma Mater True!!!

The Meaning Of Being A Senior

Being a senior meant facing a beginning and an end. The beginning of adulthood and the end of adolescence. After challenging grueling and fulfilling endeavors, seniors reached their immediate goal which was graduation. In order to have achieved this goal one had to make some sacrifices. For example, not going out, staying up late doing homework, and avoiding the temptation of goofing off.

Graduation was a time for decisions. What to do? College? Employment? These decisions were especially difficult because only we could make them.

Graduation was also a very emotional time. It was a time of sadness, saying good-bye to loved friends yet reassuring each other that we would keep in touch. Our emotions were at their highest at these unforgettable occasions — the prom, grad nite, graduation.

The events of the year ended, the excitement of being a high school student was over. The future is ahead. Our memories will bridge the gap.

'88 Graduating Class Meets New Requirements

For the class of 1988, school has become tougher. Graduation requirements changed. The California state Senate passed a new bill "SB 813". This new requirement added 20 units to boost us to an all time high of 240 unit requirements. This change mandates a more rigorous program for everyone. "How could they have done this to us?"

Actually, they did us a favor. This added units to the total and should better prepare those of us who plan to go to college. For those who don't we will still be better prepared than when we were once allowed a four period day first semester of our senior year and second semester to goof off before graduation.

So work hard, keep looking to the future, and pass all those classes and you will be a member of the graduating class of 1988.

Looking Forward To Our Senior Year

At last! The "big shoes" that we hoped to fill for the past three years would soon fit. We were finally going to be the mighty Seniors. We would stand as the epitome of a perfect class and be ready to take on the responsibility of leading the underclassmen to another year of excellency. Of course, in return, we, the mighty class of 88, would also be able to demand SENIOR RESPECT!

Through many hours of hard work, devotion, and determination, we, the Junior class, saw the planning for the 1986-87 Senior Prom produce results. One of our dearest hopes for next year was that the prospective Juniors would devote as much energy and efforts in putting on the prom for us as we had done for the Seniors this year.

Our high school chapter is soon to close, but we have much to look forward to: The Senior Panoramic, the Senior/Parent Reception, the memorable Grad Nite and, last but most important, the GRADUATION. Just imagine the honor we will have as Seniors when walking down the aisle holding the "golden" diploma.

We have much to look forward to. Let's make the most of it and be the best Senior class John Glenn has ever had.

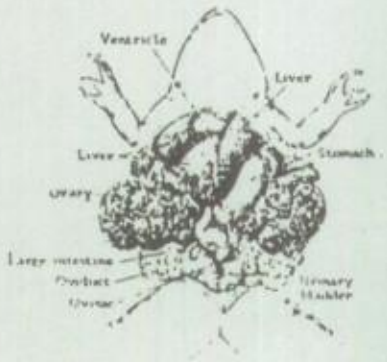
The Year Of The Frog



Picture this . . .

You've just come from a wholesome snack/lunch in our nutritious cafeteria and you're making the long awaited journey through the crowd to get to your locker. Suddenly, as you take your last bite of your burrito, panic and dread fill your heart literally gripping your body and mind as you realize that your next class is Biology and today you are dissecting . . . the FROG! Terrifying isn't it? Well, boys and girls, it's not just a bad dream, it's a reality that most of us face in our Sophomore year.

As you walk in the door formaldehyde grips your throat. It's a horrifying taste that stays with your body. You think it's the worst experience you've ever had to deal with. The smell makes some students dizzy and weightless; other more fortunate classmates think nothing of the smell. When you start dissecting the frog, you don't just think of it as a dead frog anymore; you think of it as your little friend helping you find out about body parts.

Some of us were strong and suffered through this ordeal while others weakened and "lost" their nutritious lunches.

In the end, our little green friend added one more chapter to our educational experience!

Mid-Way Point

Half way between the beginning and the end is the mid-way point. Seems obvious, right?

Sophomores are like the middle child in a large family. The seniors and the juniors get all the responsibility; the freshmen and the eighth graders get all the attention; and the sophomores get ignored. Is that fair?

Sophomores are going through some tough times now because the closer you get to being a senior, the harder your subjects become.

Being a sophomore was comparable to that awkward period in growing up. We liked the attention and the less amount of responsibility, and yet we dreaded the hard work and independence we would soon face.

Finally, however, as the year progressed, we made the transition. We left our childish state behind and accepted the challenge of the more difficult year to come. It was one challenge to overcome and we, the mighty class of '89 met the challenge.

An 8th Grader Again?

This year at John Glenn a shock came to the Class of 1990. Just as they thought they were moving up in the world and moving up in high school, they were left behind with the 8th graders. Were they 8th graders again? Did the freshmen feel left out and not wanted? There were mixed feelings among the Class of 1990. Many people were glad that they were with the 8th graders because that gave them an opportunity to be like big brothers to the 8th graders and they also had someone to "push around." Some of us felt we were treated differently and we liked it because "freshmen life" was made a bit easier. The best thing about this new freshmen life was that the lunch and snack lines were less crowded and so were the halls. Everybody felt less cramped-up.

But on the other hand there were the bad feelings of this policy. The freshmen felt left out and segregated. They thought they were finally becoming high school students, since 8th grade "doesn't count," and then it was like we became 8th graders all over again.

Was this fair to the Class of 1990? Apparently it was a reasonable policy. The purpose was to give the 9th graders one more chance to feel the comfort and closeness of being monitored more closely. The idea being that more of us would have a chance to succeed. The administration and staff liked the policy and some of the students also liked the policy.

Though the policy was controversial at the outset, we quickly adjusted. We realized we didn't actually lose any benefits and in fact stood a chance to gain. If just a few students who may have failed and dropped out by the time we became juniors were saved, then the new policy was well worth it.

FRESHMEN

Excuses Anonymous

"Upon my honor, Mr. Black, my dog went to the bathroom on my semester project." Sound familiar? Vaguely? Well, maybe something this tragic never got in the way of you turning in your homework, but believe it or not, this actually happened — or supposedly happened — or never happened . . . In recent years here at Glenn it seems to have become increasingly difficult for students to turn in their homework. Why, you ask? Procastination?? Should the blame go entirely on the students??? According to certain students the answer is no, because there are circumstances which prevent them from their homework responsibilities. Rated highest among the obstructions of the homework process are the infamous "baby brothers" who live only to spill baby formula on term papers, the dreaded "my dog ate my homework" scenarios, a number of "serious," yet impossible, locker problems, and most recently gaining immense popularity, freak phenomenae of nature. One such freak occurence involved Huck Finn and a storm drain. It seems that when the rain started, the student inadvertently dropped his book into the storm drain where it was swept away — recreating the life on the Mississippi. Other excuses tend to defy the Laws of Molecular Structure as in the case of the disappearing books. Combine these elements with the time factor and homework from at least four classes and it is easy to sympathize with that poor student — whose only goal in life is to do his homework on time, but can't because he is bombarded with interruptions. With all this up against him — who can blame him?

The Trauma Of Eighth Grade

The day had finally come — the first day of eighth grade. Stepping onto the big campus made our hearts beat faster. Seeing the new buildings, the new setting, the new faces, we felt totally out of place. Receiving our programs was easy; the hard part was finding the classroom and hoping that we did not enter a class full of seniors, thus, making us want to go back to elementary school forever.

The dramatic change from elementary school to high school was a difficult and traumatic experience especially for us in the NLM district. With no junior high schools, we had no choice but to make that big jump.

Apart from feeling lost and confused, a big change was having lockers. They were a big help for storing our books, but what was the use if we couldn't reach the darn things. What with the tardy policy, forgetting the combination or having the locker jam, we were lucky to be able to compose ourselves by the time we entered class.

Another change was dressing for P.E. Dressing in front of others — whether friends or strangers — made us embarassed and uncomfortable. Who, besides possibly our mothers, had seen us in our underwear? Not only did our situation in life change but our bodies were physically changing, too.

Snack and lunch were difficult times as we and our friends staked out our territory which would be our spot for the rest of the year — perhaps the next five years. A person's place, after all, is his/her "castle".

By the end of the year most of us had high school life down pat. (Or at least we thought.) Our experience as eight graders would make our freshmen year and all the other years to come pass more smoothly. We had had our Baptism.

FBLA is a state and national vocational organization for students enrolled in business and office education programs in California secondary schools. FBLA facilitates the transition from school to work, builds confidence and aggressive business leadership, leads students to a better understanding of the American free system and assists students in the establishment of occupational goals.

Two of the goals of the Future Business Leaders of America were to develop competent, aggressive business leaders and to encourage and practice efficient money management. These two goals, along with the need for funds to support the activities of the local chapter, created valuable learning opportunities.

FBLA also planned activities, one of which was the Presidential Conference held at the Anaheim Marriott. The FBLA also went to the State and National Competitions.

FBLA really meant business it wasn't as "ennui" as a lot of people saw it. FBLA didn't believe in all work and no play, however. Because the organization was one that worked, provisions were made for events that provided recreation, social activities and just plain fun. Going to competitions didn't only mean, work, work, work. It also meant meeting new people, making new friends, showing school spirit by winning competitions and the experience that one gained from traveling with friends.

Le Club Francais

Sharing! Eating! Celebrating! These were just a few of the things that the French Club did, along with developing a knowledge of French culture.

To start off the year, the club had a candy sale to raise money for scholarships for graduating members. To show their appreciation to the teachers, the French club and Fashion and Service club held a breakfast for the faculty during the season of Thanksgiving. The club also had a Christmas party to celebrate the "joyeuse" season.

To end the year festively, the club sponsored a trip to Cafe Casino, a French restaurant in Costa Mesa. Here the members partook of a French meal; the club paid for each person's meal.

The French club has proven to be very beneficial to all who have become involved in it's activities. The club was a perfect chance to have fun and to meet people in a relaxed atmosphere.

The German Club grew larger and even more popular this year. Since the change in advisors to Mrs. Frieda Schegetz over a decade ago the club has really been involved in a lot of activities. This year members of the club had the opportunities to attend trips to Disneyland, a German restaurant, and a German "camp" at Big Bear where only German was spoken. The club raised funds for these events through candy sales and booths at various functions throughout the school year. The German Club gave German I, II, and III students a chance to develop a better knowledge of not only the language, but the German culture.

Mecha-Hispanic Culture And Tradition

Mecha is a club that was established in the early 1970's. It was designed for students with hispanic background. It gives students a chance to learn about their culture by sharing with other students with similar interests.

The main goal for Mecha this year was to get as many students involved in school and out of school activities. By attending car washes, studio trips, and various trips to colleges and universities, students were able to broaden their horizons.

Mecha continued in Glenn's 25th year to sponsor the highly successful and uniquely creative way of generating scholarship money for Glenn's graduates. This of course was done through the Cinco de Mayo Queen contest. For the sixth consecutive year the contest generated approximately $2,500 in scholarship monies.

Under the leadership of advisor Ed Morales the club remained a vital part of the activities program at Glenn.

Under the leadership of advisor Maria Canales, Ballet Folklorico has progressed widely with its programs and fundraisers. This year the members were more involved with their neighborhood community so that the community could see some of the talent that came from Glenn.

During the '86-'87 school year Ballet Folklorico highlighted Cinco de Mayo, A much appreciated holiday. They performed their various cultural dances of heritage.

The goals for the club members were to entertain their fellow students and the community surrounding the school. They attended various cultural performances that enriched their ability and help them perform at their best.

Ballet Folklorico has been active for the past five years. Its membership grew to 18 members this year.

As a club, members are like a family so like all families they enjoyed the company of each other. They had pot-lucks so that they could socialize and talk about anything that came to mind.

Eagles Flight

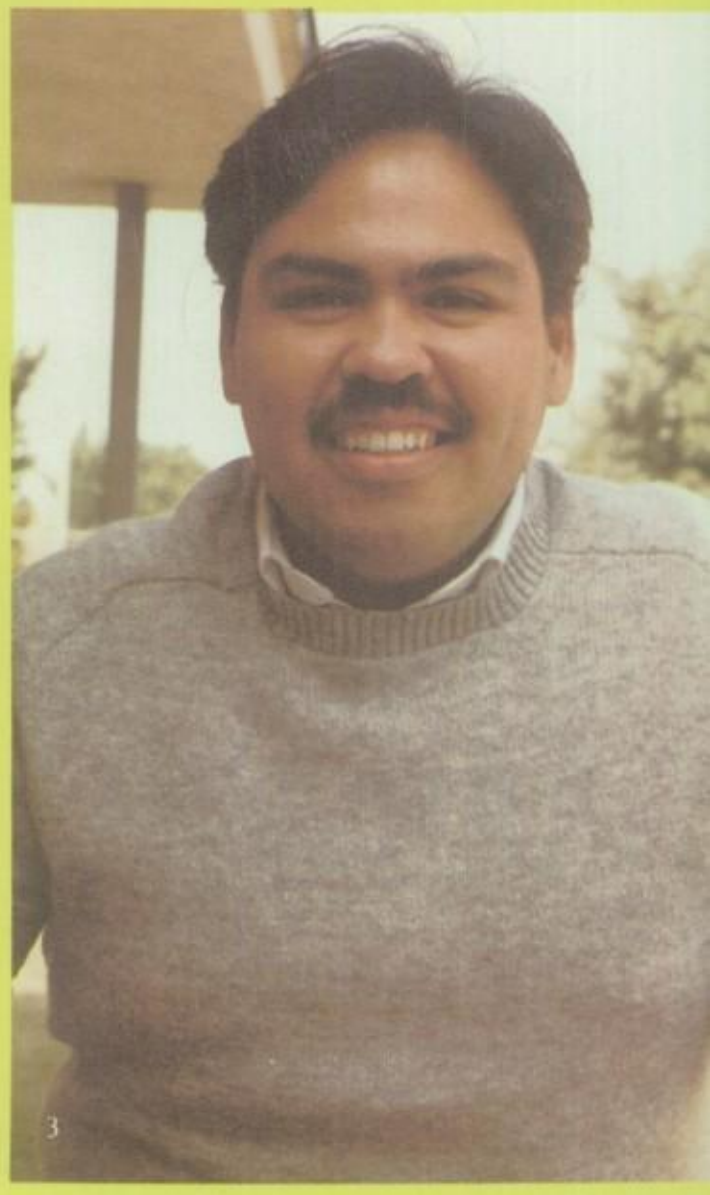
The goal of the newspaper staff was to provide students with a voice. The Eagle Flight gave the students a chance to let others know how they felt and what was important to them.

The staff tried to be both informative and entertaining in the way they presented the news. The newspaper crew had a great deal of fun in putting the newspaper together, but they took their job seriously.



Care Bears Care

The twenty-fifth year saw a new club on campus, the Peer Counseling Club, or affectionately known as the "Care Bears." The clubs goals were to help Glenn students cope with their problems no matter what they pertained to. Club members felt a sense of responsibility to do this. The members also traveled to elementary schools to help the younger kids with their problems.

Even though the members did not meet during the summer, they felt that once they were trained as Peer Counselors to lend a ear, this important skill was available to them at all times. This group of young people deserve to be commended on their dedication to helping others.

Future Historians

"Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country". These were the famous words of the late John F. Kennedy. The Civics Club here at John Glenn High School lived by that quote. They would rather do for others than to think about what others could do for them. Advisor Mr. Ken Matsumoro took great pride in these young men and women for what they had accomplished and for what they had planned to do in the future. This year's Civics Club had planned a fun filled day on there field trip "History day in L.A." This was an opportunity for these young adults to see first hand just what it was like back in the 50's, 60's, and the 70's. Through the year they planned many different fund-raisers and did some social science activities outside of school. With fun and lively discussions the Civics Club of 1986-1987 promoted better citizens for our community.

After a long hard summer of practicing, this year's Pep Squad was eager to return in September, ready to promote spirit and pride throughout John Glenn. Exercising the skills acquired at the U.S. Spiritleader Cheerleading Camp at U.C. Santa Barbara In July, the cheerleader's performances for the student body followed the tradition of excellence that was started twenty-five years ago. Having competed at several local and state competitions, the John Glenn Cheerleaders reestablished their well-known reputation as one of the best squads in the state. As we say goodbye to our spirited Seniors, we would like to wish them all the best of luck in their endeavors!

Spirit Leaders Of Glenn

MESA Is Achievement

The John Glenn "Mathematics, Engineering, and Science Achievement" Club has been on our campus for the past three years. The club's purpose was to help minority students who were eligible and who were seeking a career in the math, science, or engineering field. Student eligibility was based on their grades, G.P.A's and their ethnic background.

MESA offered tutoring, competition activities and field trips with other MESA groups. MESA also made available scholarships and monetary awards, to students who were eligible based on G.P.A's and SAT or PSAT scores. The monetary awards could be used at the student's discretion.

Mr. Lopez, as new advisor was a great help to this year's members. He was assisted by a representative from the California State University, Fullerton- Mrs. Vonna Hammerschmitt. Together they made MESA a great club!

Experience And Experiments

The objectives of the Science Club for the 25th anniversary were as always to increase interest in and a love for the scientific field. The club went on various trips: to Cabrillo Beach to study tide pools, Charmalee Park to study the ocean and to study the oak tree environment at El Dorado Regional Park. One of the more interesting trips was to TRW & JPL to learn how satellites are made.

Advanced Placement Moves Forward

Although relatively new on campus, the A.P. (advanced placement) Club grew both in number and strength. The purpose of the club was to raise money to offset the cost of advanced placement testing. These tests offer students the opportunity to get college credits for courses if the tests are passed. Members of the club raised money through candy sales, booths at activities, and various fundraisers.

Be The Next John Glenn

The eighth graders had an exclusive opportunity this year to join a new club called Astronauts. The purpose of this new club was to give students more experience in scientific activities through experiments and field trips. The members of this club attended four field trips this year. They visited an Air-Force Base, Rockwell International, and the Museum of Space and Technology. They also went to Cabrillo Beach to study the tidepools. This new club gave the eighth graders an exciting opportunity to get involved in the world of science for now and for the future.

California Scholarship Federatio

Serious Scholars

The California Scholarship Federation felt honored to celebrate 25 years with John Glenn High School.

For the last 25 years, CSF has been praised for its services. The federation opens doors for many students. CSF informs students regarding available general and specialized scholarships granted by many institutions and foundations in the country.

Participating CSF members met on Mondays to be informed on up-coming events and opportunities, and to discuss fund-raising efforts. Each year, field trips to various Universities and Colleges are available to interested Junior and Senior members. One of its prime benefits for CSF members was high visibility to colleges and universities.

Membership in CSF depended on grades earned in the academic subjects of the preceeding semester. Freshmen could join CSF at the beginning of the second semester. Senior CSF members were eligible to be sealbearers. To become a sealbearer, one must have participated in CSF for four semesters. Sealbearers had an even greater opportunity to apply for scholarship monies, received a gold seal on their diploma, and wore a gold tassle during graduation.

It was truly worthwhile to join CSF!

This year's girls' Varsity Lettermen's club got smaller in size due to the graduation of many of its senior members, but grew larger in spirit. The main purposes of the Lady Eagles' Club was to motivate more girls to participate in more sports, to raise money for varsity tournaments, and to have banquets to honor the finest players. This year many eighth grade girls — future Lady Eagles — helped to support the club by selling Blow Pops for the girls' varsity teams. The support was appreciated because it helped fund many activities for the club.

Tennis, as a sport, doesn't have as large an audience as football, baseball, or even track. Tennis lingo such as love, duece, add-in, add-out, etc. cannot be recognized by everyone. Only the individuals involved with this sport can interpret this slang. In order to remedy this problem, a few boys' tennis players decided to make the students aware of tennis, and promote the many aspects of tennis. This was done by creating the Tennis Club. This was the first year the Tennis Club took an active part in promoting the sport of tennis. Mr. Lloyd Espinoza, the advisor, was very optomistic about the future of the club. Its main objective for this year was to make the students aware and interested in tennis. They conducted mini clinics, tournaments, serve-a-thons, and other types of tennis related activities. Mini clinics were run by experienced tennis players and were intended to teach basic tennis skills to beginning players and to help intermediate players improve. The club raised funds in order to participate in larger tournaments and to do other tennis related activities. These funds were raised by having serve-a-thons, car-washes, and candy sales. The Tennis Club, in a sense, is a mini U.S.T.A. program, and any one interested in this sport should consider joining it. Tennis isn't just a sport of "love;" it is the sport for everyone.

Mystery Book Club

The Mystery Book Club was one of the newly formed clubs on campus. The club's main goal was to write and edit mystery stories for a mystery book anthology. They also planned to publish this anthology that they had created. Even though they were a novice club, they too had many activities. One of those activities was a trip to mystery book store, Sherlock Holmes in Long Beach.

Project Interdependence

This year Project Interdependence, (P.I) increased in both size and motivation. The club dedicated itself to students working together to show that everyone is human being and that all are equal whether they have disabilities or not. P.I puts people together in an atmosphere of friendship and familiarity. Every year P.I plans activities such as candy sales and trips. The members started during the summer with a pool party then a beach party, and went on to have a nut sale, a candy cane sale, a trip to Disneyland, and many other activities. The highlight of P.I's activities every year, is to send about six kids from the club to camp Whittle were they learn how to work as a group to deal with difficult situations. The club itself has been on campus since 1982.

Spanish Club

On campus for many years, the Spanish Club is designed to encourage interest and participation in the Hispanic culture. The Hispanic culture, from the language to the food, is an important aspect in our community contributing to the way we live and think. Though not having to be of Latin descent or enrolled in a Spanish class, all the members shared a common interest in the culture. This year a new advisor took over, Mrs. Carolyn Bell. One of the various activities of the club was dining at a Mexican restaurant. (Not fast food!) Through fundraisers, including a car wash and a donation drawing, scholarships were presented to senior members.

Here we have the Home Ec Club escorted by Mrs. Bender and Mrs. Dauphin. The club, tailored to benefit the school and the students, was fully attired for those special occasions — the senior/parent reception, a mother/daughter banquet, and other special student social activities. No doubt Home Ec was decked out to again present the much successful fashion show featuring prom apparel. With its array of accesories selling various items, including flowers and cookbooks, Home Ec once again had a very productive year as Glenn wrapped up 25 years of activity.

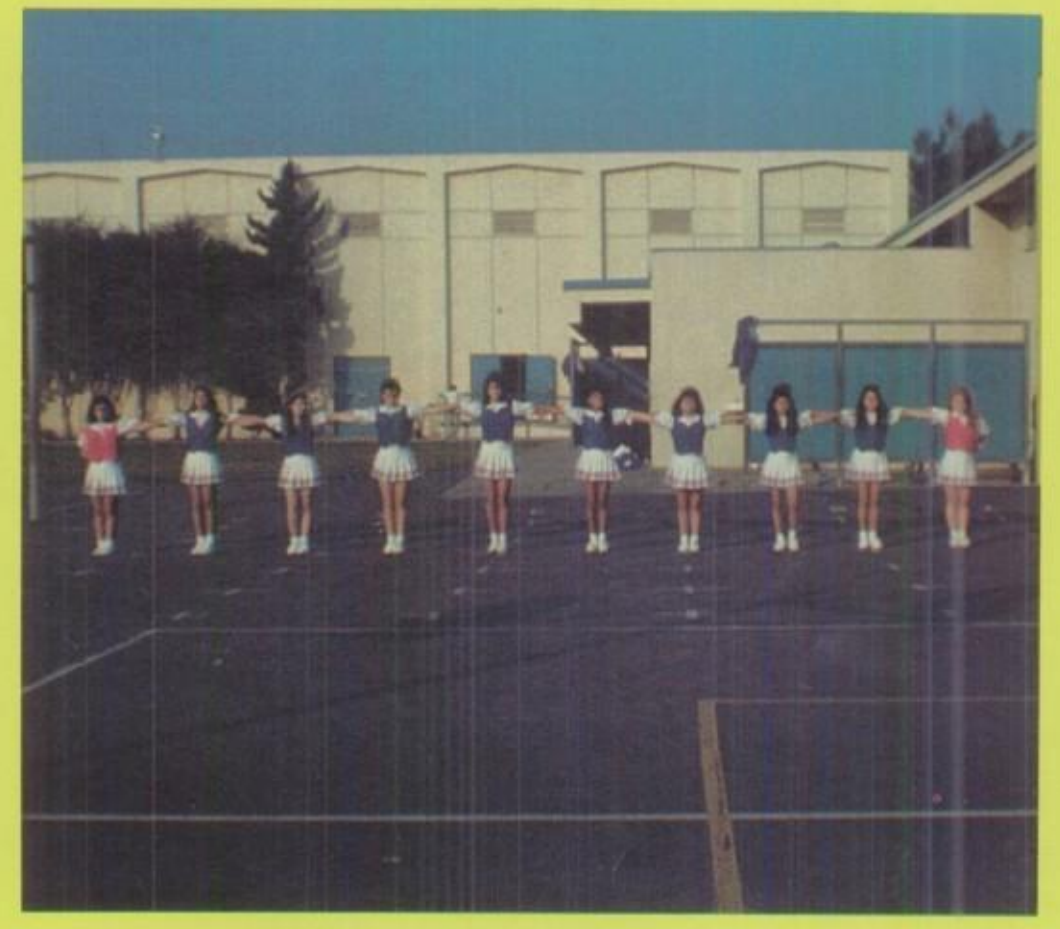
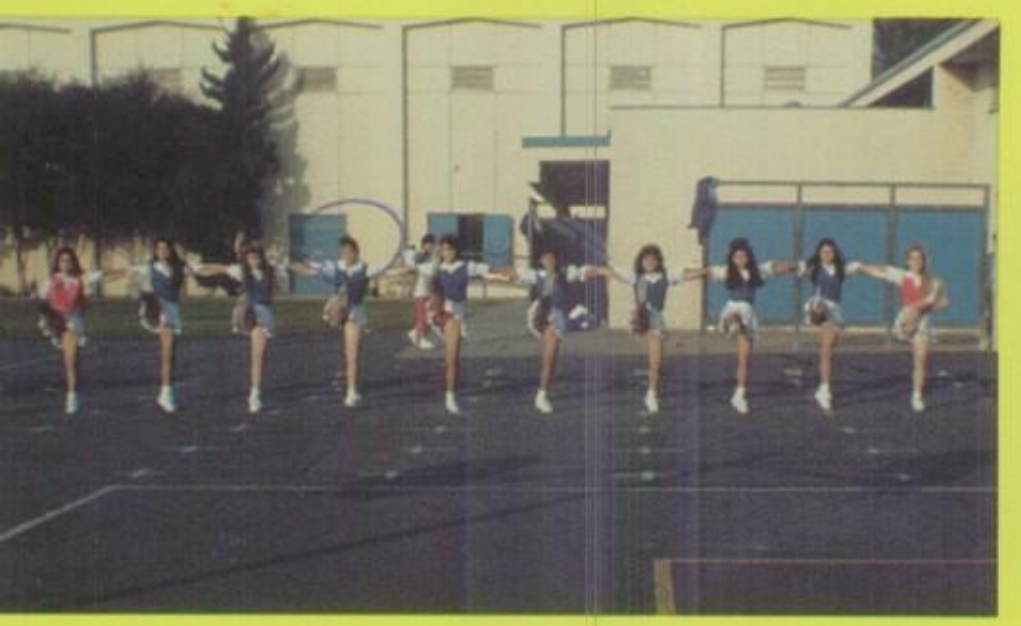
The drill team was once again back into a winning tradition! After attending U.S.A. Dance/Drill Team Summer Camp and receiving high honors, the drill team was ready for another great year. They started the year off by winning a first place trophy at the Banning Parade. Once again the drill team did a super job in parade competitions and indoor competitions by winning many first place trophies. They looked forward to coming back and defending their first place trophy at the Knott's Berry Farm and the Mountain Fest competitions.

It took a lot of hard work and dedication to get their routines picture perfect and the drill team always thrilled the audience with their spectacular performances. Under the leadership of third year Captain My-Anh Le and Advisor Jan Frawley, the drill team performed precision dance and military routines at pep rallies, assemblies, football games, and basketball games. The girls quickly became a family and shared the laughter and the memories. They made lasting friendships and will always keep the winning Drill Team Spirit Alive!





Serving With Style

The Fashion and Service Club's goals were to have their third annual fashion show, which has been a great success in the past. For the past years they have also helped the community with the health fair, and raised money for scholarships for the graduating members. They encourage girls to continue their education, and get involved in school activities.

The Fashion and Service Club's fundraisers were car washes, candy sales, and the booth at the Cinco de Mayo carnival. During the summer some of the girls took a trip to Knott's Berry Farm for a fun filled day under the supervision of their advisors Mrs. Rosa Carreon and Mrs. Lydia Estep.

The Key To Success

Kiwanis Educating Youth or, commonly known on campus, as KEY Club is a service organization for high school students. KEY Club is unique because it is sponsored by a local Kiwanis Club. The club's main goal was to develop initiative, leadership ability, and good citizenship practices among its members. The purpose of the club was to service the school, the community, and the home. This year they had food drives, Christmas donations, and visited the elderly and the needy. The club also sponsored scholarships for graduating members. KEY Club has been in existence for three years and this year there was a new advisor, Mr. Norm Hayes. KEY Club was not all work and no play. At the end of the year, members who participated in majority of the club's activities had the opportunity to attend a California-Hawaii-Nevada convention.

Silver Anniversary Patriot

The dedication of a yearbook is a very serious matter, requiring much thought and consideration. Each year one person is chosen to honor in this manner. The choice is always difficult especially at Glenn where we have so many deserving candidates.

The yearbook staff spent a tremendous amount of time pondering a choice for this very special year, our Silver Anniversary.

The process which we followed was to name certain individuals with qualifications such as spirit (showing that they were not embarrassed to wear school colors, Red-White-Blue); dedication (willing to stay after hours to finish tomorrows work, so that they didn't fall behind); confidence (being sure of oneself knowing that one could succeed personally, and with the students he/she served.

This years 1986-'87 Patriot Staff decided finally to dedicate this year's Patriot to the most deserving candidates: Our entire John Glenn High School Family: secretaries, teachers, custodians, administrators, students, cafeteria, security staff, and support personnel- each and everyone who contributes to the success and supports the tradition of one of the finest schools anywhere. The Silver Anniversary Patriot is dedicated to All John Glenn Eagles Past, Present, and Future.

Spirit And Pride Come Alive

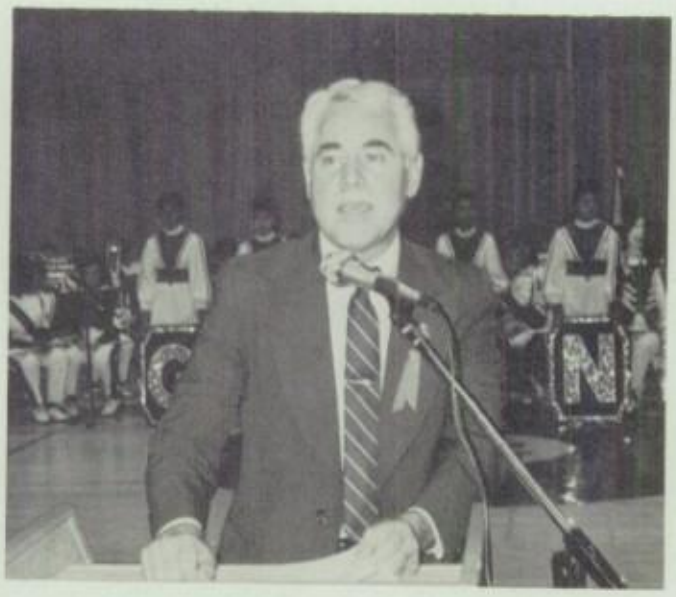
Seniors number one! Go, fight, win! Destroy the Lancers! Victorious cheers thundered from the gym as John Glenn spirit was again at an all time high. Crowds always packed the bleechers ready to fire up our athletic teams to victory. The spectacular cheerleaders electrically charged the atmosphere, the dazzling drill team sparked our interest, and the awesome John Glenn Band inspired us all. The mighty seniors showed their strength winning many of the class competitions — from a tug-of-war to the infamous grabbag — and winning the spirit stick three times in a row. The juniors and sophomores did their best and gave it their all. But again those eighth graders, as well as the freshmen, proved they had spirit, too, eagerly upstaging the upper classes. The rousing, radical rallies testified to the fact that school spirit was alive and well and roaring to go. As the band played the alma mater, we all knew we shared in the success not only of our teams, but of John Glenn itself. Go Big Blue!!

For 25 years John Glenn has provided students with a positive learning environment encouraging higher education.

Through a wide variety of field trips planned through the clubs and classes, students got to expand their knowledge. Whether it was an FBLA seminar, a science club nature walk, or a visit to a museum or restaurant, students found that learning could go beyond the classroom.

Parent participation was also a positive influence for the success of our school. The annual Back to School Night saw numerous parents give their support in their students' education. A growing interest in higher education was evident as aspiring college-goers crowded into the cafeteria on College Night seeking vital information. It was not too long ago when College Night was held in the library.

The whole combination of the faculty, staff, students and parents of John Glenn united in stressing education which was basically what John Glenn was all about.



1. Don't we look good!

We Are

John Glenn housed a blend of the radical, the dedicated, the conforming, the organized, the confused, the eager, and the hesitant. Somehow these groups managed to get together and produce victories and achievements that made the community take notice. Every individual, not just those in the spotlight, who participated and gave their best, made the year successful.

Students' lives were the most important part of the rise of John Glenn High to the center of attention. Students developed leadership, talent, pride, and sportsmanship as they matured throughout the year. Glenn provided us something to look forward to and many memories to look back on.

Experience was the key to everything. Older students shared knowledge with younger underclassmen and of course the faculty and staff shared with us a wealth of experience. With this preparation, confidence, and support we were better prepared to participate and prove ourselves when chances came along.

The 1986-87 school year shone brightly through tradition and pride carried on uniquely and collectively by each member of the Glenn family.

Spirit was the word and that's how the 86-87 Homecoming Week began. The dress up days planned by A.S.B. were Beach Bum Day, Toga Day, Nerd Day, Family Picnic Day, and the traditional Spirit Day. With a pie eating contest, best dressed contest, princess slave auction, tug-o-war and musical entertainment; this special 25th Homecoming celebration sparked class spirit and Eagle pride. Silver balloons buoyed spirit around campus and with the good part of the student body behind the football team; they massacred Mountain View 44-0. This was a great topping to a successful Silver Anniversary Homecoming celebration.

It was a tough act to follow, but Glenn spirit continued to shine during Halloween. Lurking on campus were wildcats, vampires, witches, and ghouls. It was a treat to see the staff get out of their suits and ties and express their school spirit. Prizes were awarded and the successful event was highlighted by the annual dance with an added delight, "The A.S.B. Haunted House."

For Someone Special

TO TANNY,
A REALLY DORKY GIRL
I MET IN EIGHTH GRADE.
YOU BETTER START GETTING ALONG WITH YOUR MOM TOO.
BECAUSE WHEN YOU GET OLDER
Your gonna wish you did.
AND AS FOR you ↘ ALEX I hope
YOU STAY TOGETHER for along time, but you BETTER BEHAVE
IN THE SUMMER, (If you know WHAT I MEAN). So WHEN
ARE WE going do Disneyland
again? REMEMBER THAT ONE
TIME in the phone booth?
THAT WUZ funny ha? I HOPE YOU HAVE FUN IN ARKANSAS, WHO KNOWS MAYBE
YOU'll EVEN MEET A COWBOY (YEE-HA).
Just kidding. OH WELL
I guess I should go
NOW. Bye Buddy.

I felt very proud and honored to have been chosen as our Christmas Queen, especially since I knew that there were many other candidates who were worthy of this great honor. Becoming Christmas Queen was an exciting and beautiful experience that I will never forget because it gave me the opportunity to meet other students I may not have had the chance to meet before. I would like to thank all the people who have made this experience possible: my mother and my father, my teachers, and my fellow students for believing in me and giving me inspiration.

Social Highlights Of The Year

We put on our dancing shoes and off we went. Where to? Why to a Glenn dance of course! After all, they were the social highlights of the school year. With the lights dimmed low, the music playing loud, students gathered in an atmosphere of laughter and friendship.

The traditional Christmas Dance, held at the Golden Sails in Long Beach, was filled with glamour and excitement as everyone anticipated the crowning of the queen. As we welcomed in the New Year, we also welcomed in the unprecedented "Welcome The New Year Dance". The night ended with a unique aspect as balloons fell to the ground at the stroke of midnight. Next balloon arches and the "non-alcoholic" single's booth, set the tone for a night of "dancing and romancing" at the annual Hearts and Flowers Dance.

All in all John Glenn dances livened up this year. They were highly successful events. We may have put away our dancing shoes for the year, but John Glenn dances will be remembered with fond memories as we celebrated our 25th Anniversary!

A Gathering

The John Glenn Family. What it is? It's not actually something a person can put his finger on. It's not just the things the students and faculty do for each other, although they're a part of it. It's more of a special feeling that exists between the two groups. There's a closeness between the students, faculty, and administration that is a unique and vital part of Glenn.

The spirit of John Glenn High School is one of giving unselfishly for the prosperity of the whole and the wellbeing of the individual. It was this giving attitude that brought many people to John Glenn. It was best seen in the people who attended this school.

So this is the John Glenn Family? Well, a big part of it anyhow. But there's no way to describe the closeness and love that continues to grow with each and every day at good 'ole Glenn High.

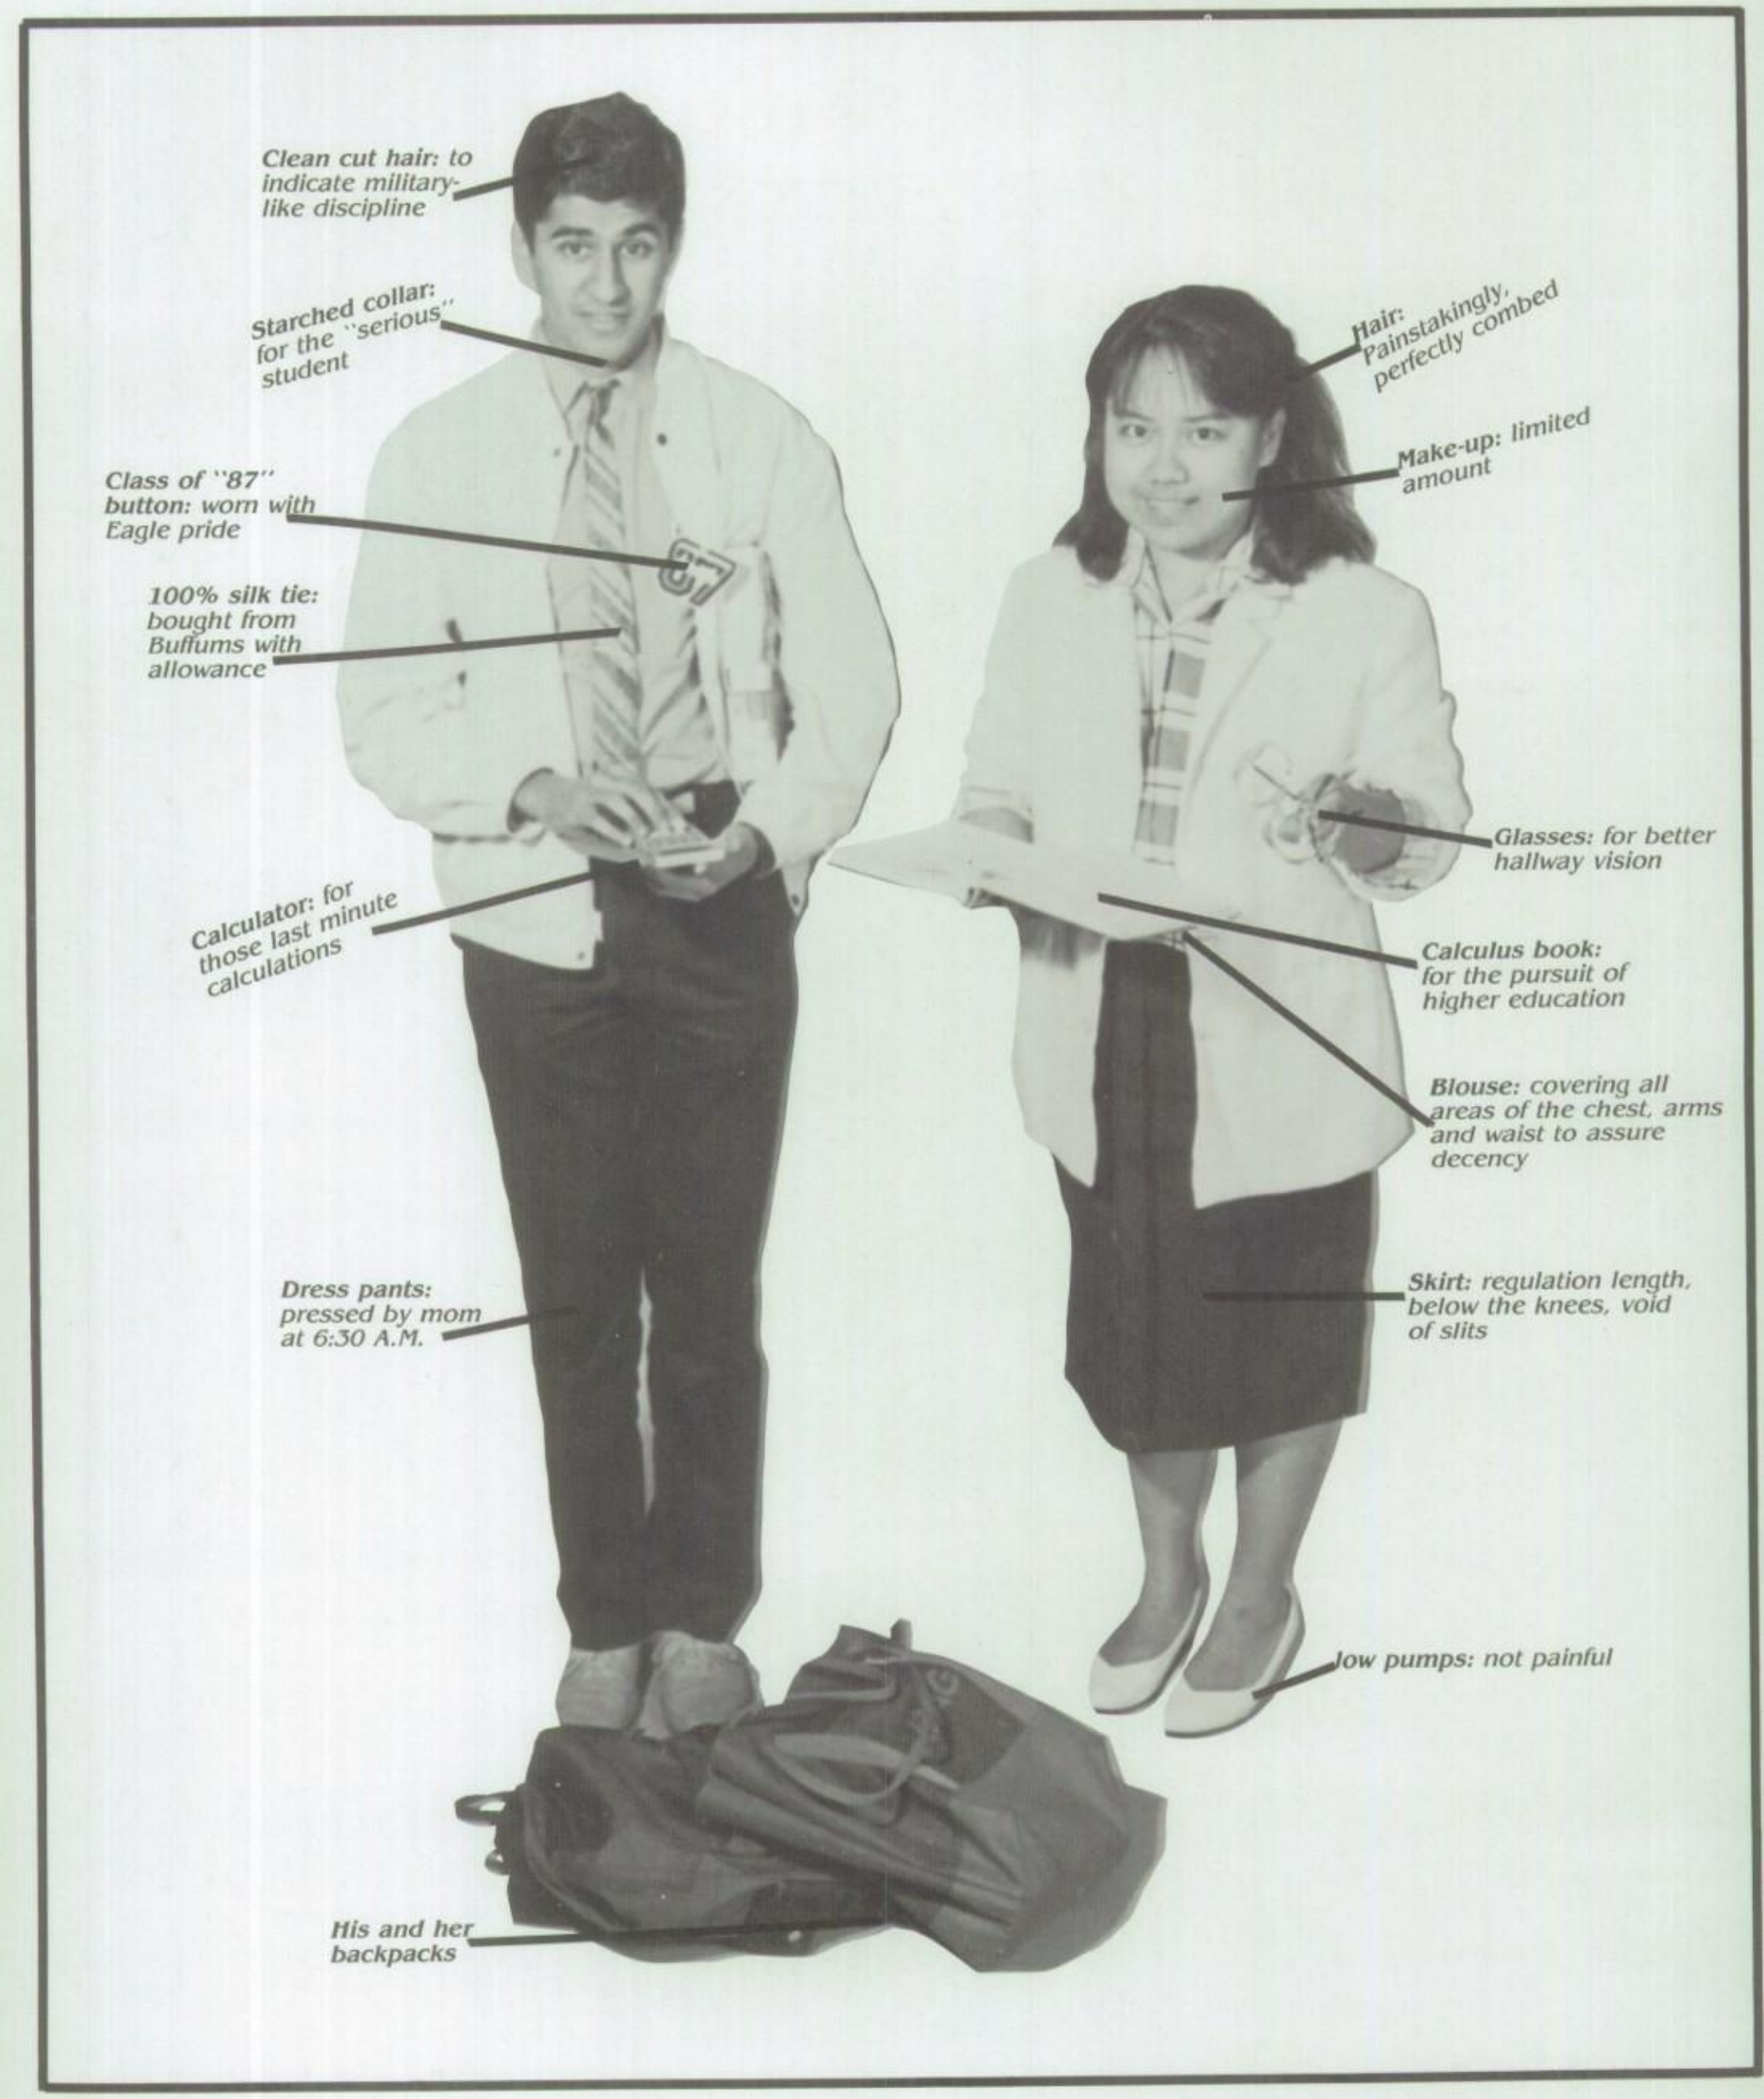
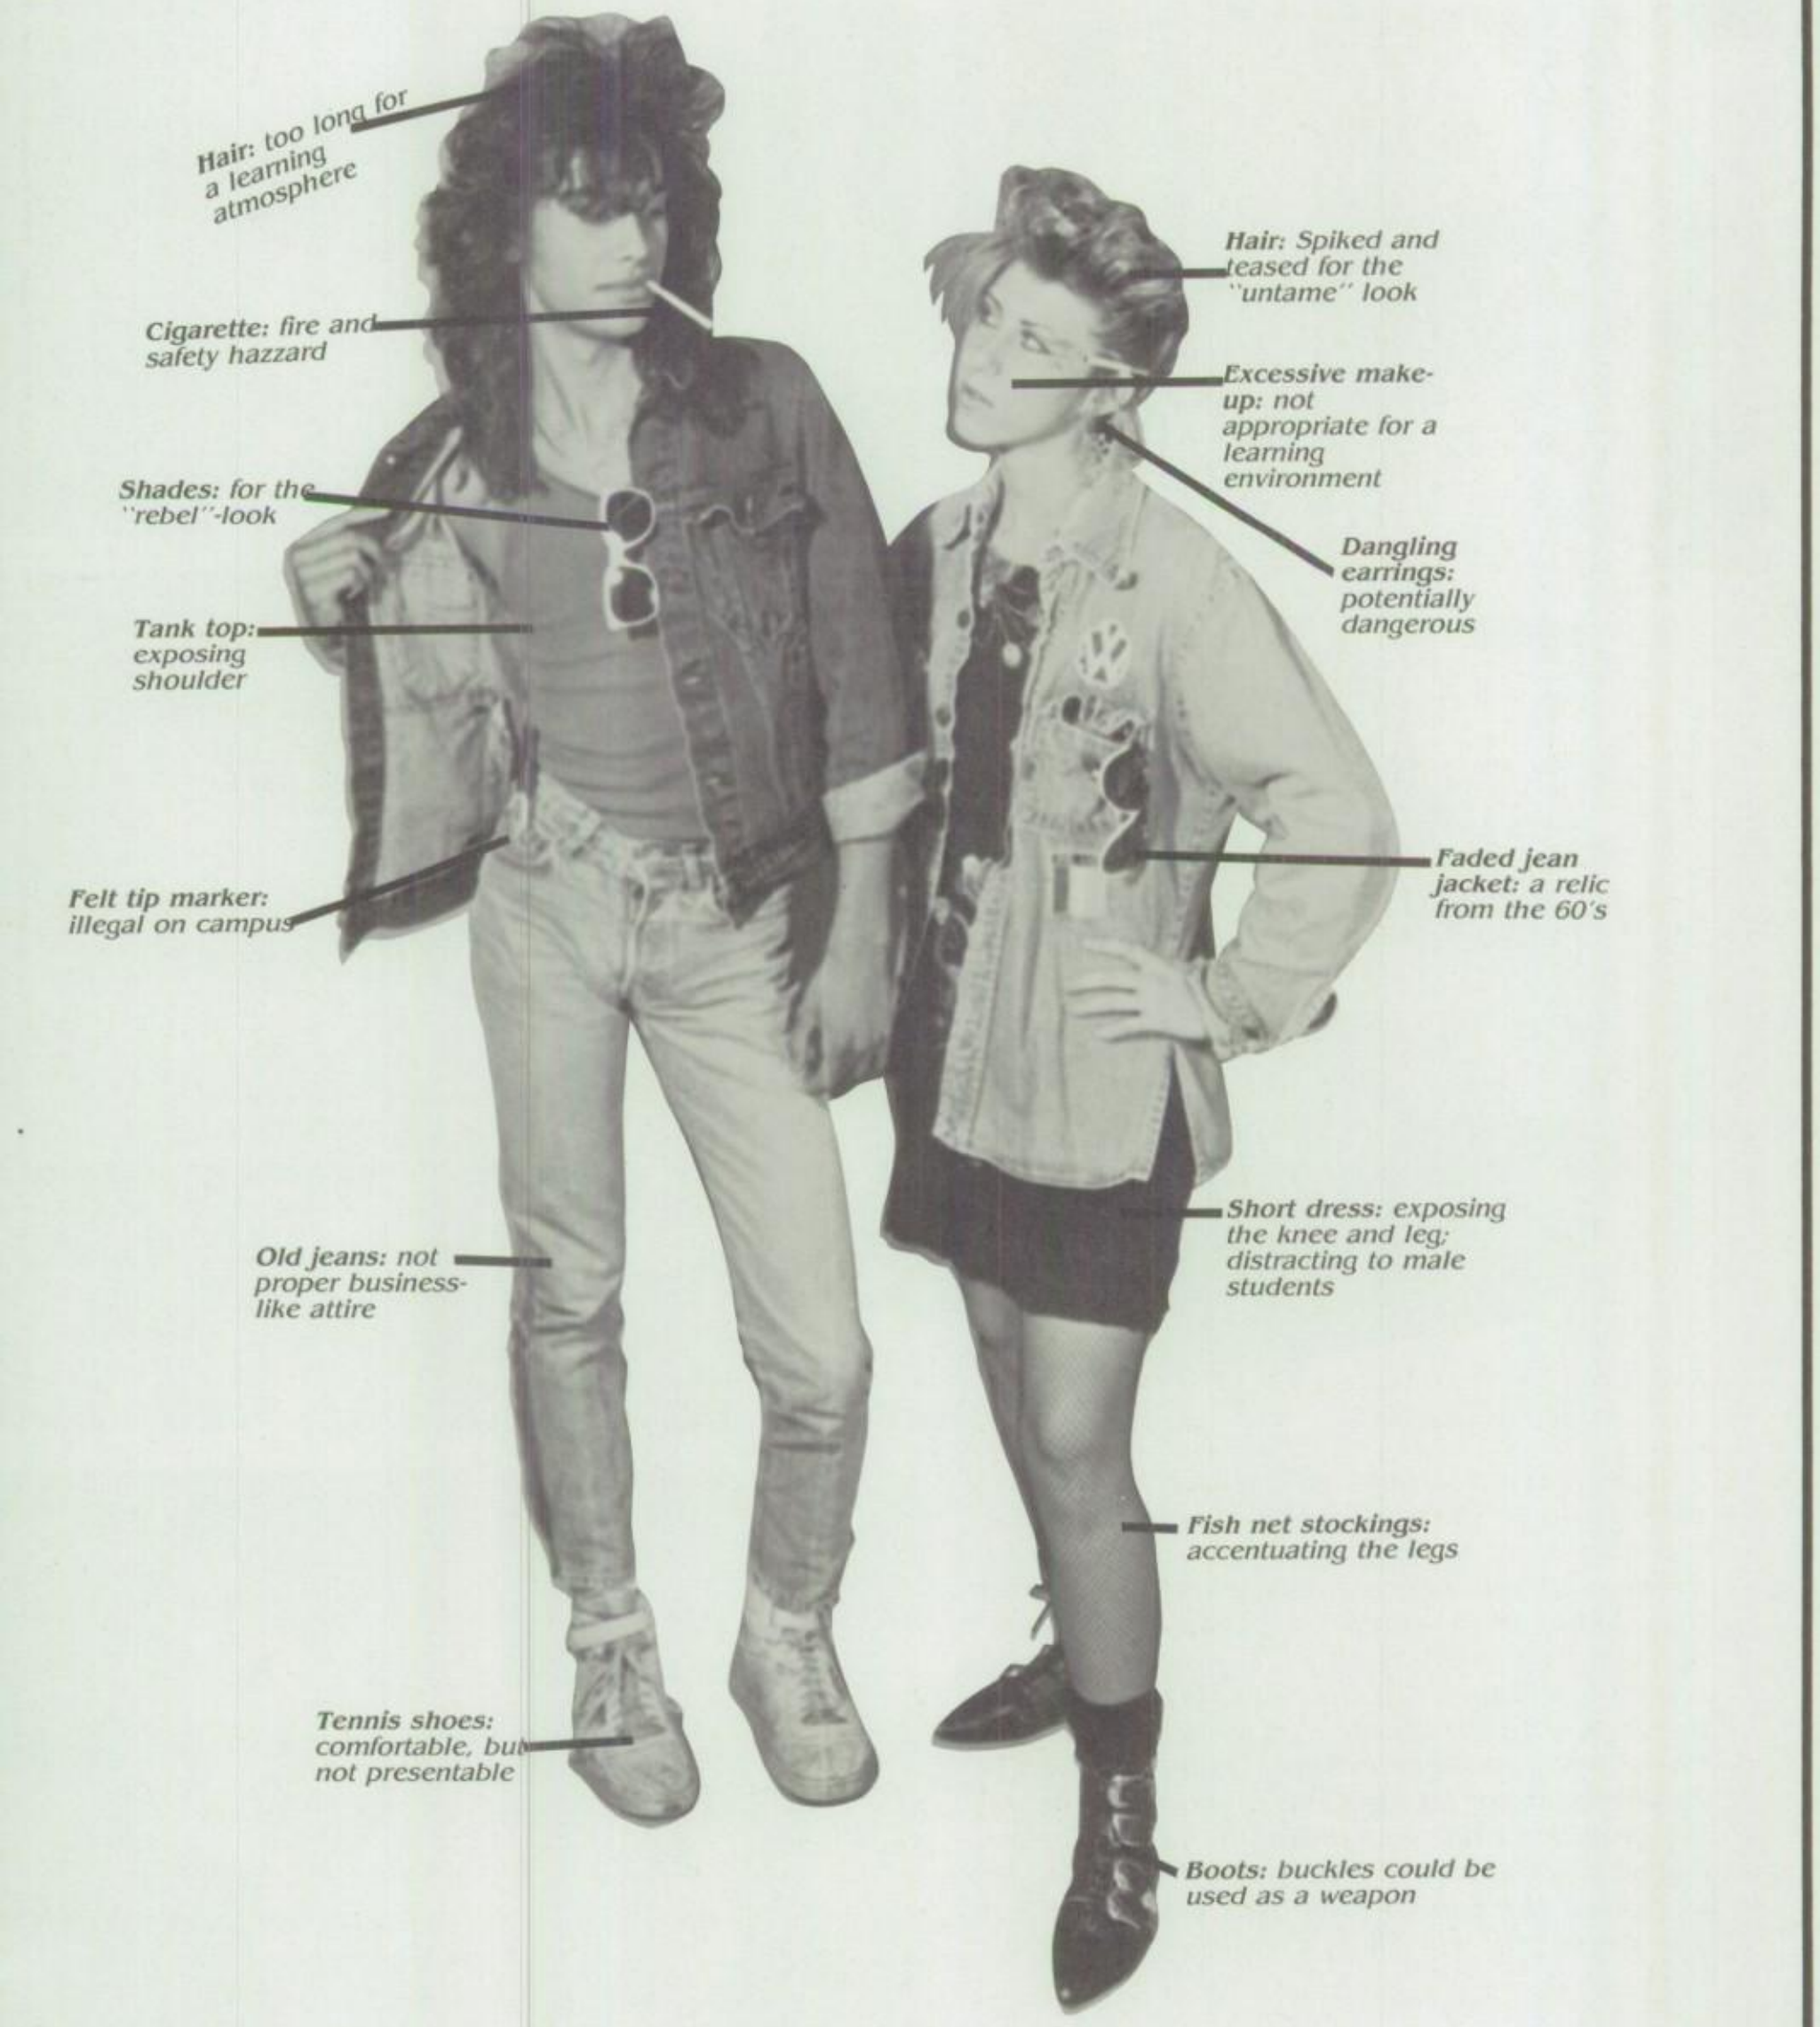
A Teacher's Dream



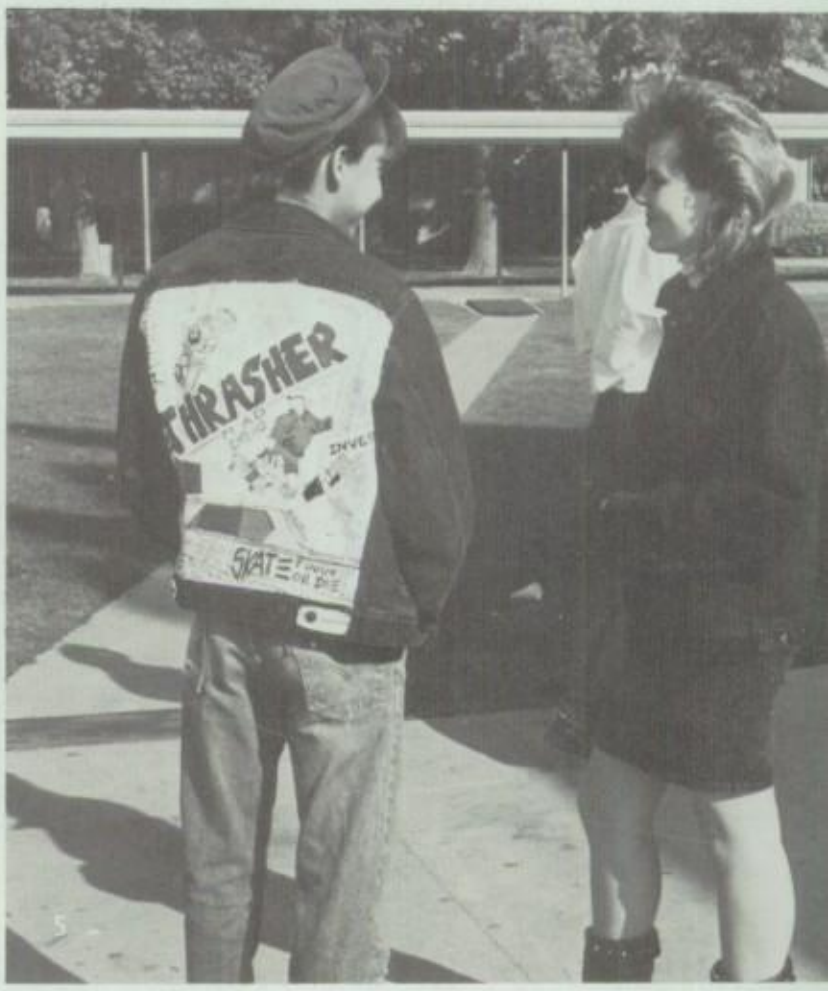
Clean cut hair: to indicate military-like discipline
Starched collar: for the "serious" student
Class of "87" button: worn with Eagle pride
100% silk tie: bought from Buffums with allowance
Calculator: for those last minute calculations
Dress pants: pressed by mom at 6:30 A.M.
His and her backpacks
Hair: Painstakingly, perfectly combed
Make-up: limited amount
Glasses: for better hallway vision
Calculus book: for the pursuit of higher education
Blouse: covering all areas of the chest, arms and waist to assure decency
Skirt: regulation length, below the knees, void of slits
low pumps: not painful

A Teacher's Nightmare



Hair: too long for a learning atmosphere
Cigarette: fire and safety hazzard
Shades: for the "rebel"-look
Tank top: exposing shoulder
Felt tip marker: illegal on campus
Old jeans: not proper business-like attire
Tennis shoes: comfortable, but not presentable
Hair: Spiked and teased for the "untame" look
Excessive make-up: not appropriate for a learning environment
Dangling earrings: potentially dangerous
Faded jean jacket: a relic from the 60's
Short dress: exposing the knee and leg; distracting to male students
Fish net stockings: accentuating the legs
Boots: buckles could be used as a weapon

Fashions Of



This year as always, Glenn Eagles showed their various styles of fashion, whether it was the 80's look, the 50's look or anything in between. It all meant that invididuals showed what they believed in. Often times the "New Look" showed that their styles were a combination of mixed fashions from the 50's, 60's, 70's, and the 80's. The variety created by these combinations didn't matter because "different" was in. Fashions changed for students; but our faculty continued to dress in a more traditional fashion. Some teachers were into elegant wear; others were into the casual look. But, no matter how you dress you will always reflect a fashion.

Dancing The Nights Away

The year was successfully started by 3 excellent dances. The Homecoming Dance was attended by many alumni celebrating the 25th anniversary. The Halloween Dance was complemented by a haunted house created by the A.S.B. Cabinet. The Thanksgiving Dance was a charity benefit in honor of needy families. Half of the profits were given to the food basket drive. These dances were the most successful they have been many in years past.

Eagles . . . Putting Out Their BEST!!

Glenn's Silver Anniversary was pepped up this year by the great momentum that the varsity football team displayed all season long. The team excelled full effort and let their Eagle pride soar high.

Great turn outs at games were seen this year; everyone wanted to see the Eagles in action. So there they were — the Eagles, our Mighty Eagles, displaying strength and unity. Scores may not have always been in our favor, but the feeling of unity was always there.

The vision of C.I.F. was not obtained and the dissapointment was felt by everyone, but the players never stopped giving it their best. In the long run that's what counted.

United we stood in victory or defeat. The Eagle Spirit flew high all year, making the 1986-87 football season an appropriately excellent one to match our Silver Anniversary Celebration.

This year's team was a great success. The members won all their games with the exception of two, which they lost to La Mirada. The team had outstanding pitching skills, and great potential for the varsity team in the coming years. The team stuck together as a family demonstrating great sportsmanship and team spirit.

This past year the eighth grade flag football team did extraordinarily well. The team ended up in second place in the league. Their deciding game was an emotional roller-coaster. The opposing team scored the winning points in the last three seconds of the game. The coaches, Mr. Drake and Mr. Adams, were very proud of their players. Both coaches believe these future varsity players will lead the Eagles to victory.

Varsity Volleyball-Too Hot To Stop

The loud shrill of the whistle breaks the dead silence of the gym as the referee motions for the opposing team to serve. Our team is prepared to leap into action, as a leopard springs into action.

The Varsity Volleyball Team entered the 1986 season with a positive attitude, knowing that the Suberban League was going to be a challenge. The team was in a very competitive league and victories were difficult to achieve. The girls knew they would have to put as much effort into their games as they could to come out winners.

Volleyball requires a keen and fast awareness from an individual; it also requires a concentrated group effort. The Varsity Volleyball Team possessed both of these qualities, even when the odds were against them.

The team was young, but improved with every game. The team consisted of two freshmen, three sophomores, six juniors, and one senior. Out of the twelve players there were only five returning from last year's team.

Next year all Southern California teams better watch out, because the John Glenn Varsity Volleyball Team will be too hot to stop.

. . The Glory Continues

The 1986-87 Boys Varsity Basketball team progressed alot this year in spite of tough competition from schools such as Norwalk and Artesia. The team's best features - it's speed and endurance - helped create team unity in all of their games. Besides an increase in team spirit, there was an increase in fan support. More and more people went to the games - especially against our traditional rivals. There was also a bigger interest in basketball at the school. The team and fans can be most noted for their determination to win and for their pride in both the school and it's sports programs.

Eagles striving for victory. That is what the Boy's J.V. Basketball team looked like during their games. Everyone of the players ran, dribbled, and made their points with pride.

J.V. Basketball was determined to succeed and win all its games. By working as a team and giving each play their best, the members proved to everybody that they meant victory. If fast and active was the name of the game, they played it like that - from beginning to end.

The team left victories and more memories to be celebrated during our 25th anniversary. Great job J.V. Basketball!

The Freshman Team played many hard-fought, close games in pre-season. Highlights included Hector Valdez with 22 points against Valencia, Vernon Ruelos scoring 23 against Pioneer, Rene Angulo with 12 against Sonora, Ricky Salas with 13 against Sierra Vista, Scott Boos with 12 against Valencia, and Albert Vasquez with 10.

In league, the Freshmen started out by beating La Mirada 41-40 and Norwalk 57-28. Top scorers were Vidal Hernandez with 12 and Hector Valdez with 11, both against Norwalk. Top rebounders were Hector Valdez, Rene Angulo, Ricky Salas, and Frank Ruiz. Top reserves were Scott Boos and Eddie Garcia with both scoring and defense. The Freshman team played well this season and gave their best shot. That's all we can ask for.

Glenn J.V. wrestlers finally had their chance to be their own team.

In the past, Coach Dominguez had to coach Varsity and J.V. wrestling as a single unit because of insufficient numbers of wrestlers to make the separate squads. Coach Ralph Valle, new to the Glenn campus, joined the coaching staff and brought into existence two separate teams with more interested wrestlers.

As game time approached, most people were usually nervous but Coach Valle always said, "All that players need is a little encouragement, praise, and a whole lot of yelling."

Although Coach Valle was new this year he knew his wrestlers' potential well enough to predict they would go to league finals. Their hard work was an obvious indication that they were a #1 team.

This year's Girl's Varsity Basketball team was the best ever. With six returning players — Michelle Krantz, Connie Mitchell, Tanya Robinson, Kimberly Seelke, and Frances Tabor and eight new players, this team proved to be tough and determined to win. The eight new dribblers were Dawn Anderson, Dena Bixler, Maria Chavez, Kelly Lathrop, Hope Martinez, Roxanne Sanchez, Lillian Chavez, and Papepae Teo. Coach Stein had high hopes for the Lady Dribblers this year as well as next, because of all the excellent players on this year's team.

Limits Only Exist

Girls J.V. Basketball

"Limits only exist in your mind." a quote which reminded first-year head coach Darryl Adams of this year's J.V. Girls' Basketball. The thirteen girls on the squad abandoned their limits in the mind and perceived themselves to be a strong union limitless in their abilities. The girls combined their talents creating a strong team, but at the same time studied hard for their academic success which was much more important than their scoring average. With much enthusiasm, the team played and represented John Glenn well.

Varsity Tennis Sets

Glenn's Varsity Tennis excelled again this year as they came in #2 in Suburban League. Their record of 8 wins and only 4 loses indicated that they struggled hard, applied themselves, and did their best. Jenny Yi displayed her prowess in the art of tennis by becoming the #2 singles player in the League Championships. Vickie Tran, another superb singles player, tied Jenny with a record of 33 wins and 6 loses. The Lady Eagles not only were exceptional in singles' tennis, but they were superb in doubles as well. Ana Lazalde and Robynn Hewey and the rest of the team contributed greatly to the team's overall winning efforts.

This year's team consisted of Michelle Lee, Paula Garcia, Mei-Lin Beltran, Sandra Gonzalez, Vickie Tran, Vickie Lee, Ana Lazalde, Lorena Von Borstel, Robynn Hewey, and Jenny Yi. Five of the team members were seniors and they will be definitely missed by the entire team as well as the student body. Keep it up Varsity Tennis and have a greater and better year next year.

J.V. Tennis Working Hard To Be Number 1

This year's J.V. Team consisted of four returning players and four rookies. The lack of players didn't stop them from winning second place and coming close to the top spot. They missed number one by only one game. This was Coach Thalia Montalvo's first season. She was a graduate of Glenn last year and played on the Varsity team. She was a finalist in the League Championship and finished as the number three doubles player in the league. Even though the team forfeited several games due to the lack of players it managed to pull out of very close games. The loss of the teams top player, Mei-Lin Beltran to Varsity greatly affected the squad since her victories against Whitney would have meant the top spot. The girls managed to come close to tying Whitney with a score of 8-10. The team, meanwhile, slaughtered our school rival Norwalk 28-3 in total games. Judie Jornadal, the team's M.V.P. greatly inspired the players by playing both singles and doubles. Also putting out a great performance as a single player was Eloisa Lim. She was the only one who played singles throughout the season. The strong and reliable team of Kim Swan and Marienell Sapida led the Lady Eagles doubles team. Also playing doubles was the Junior's team of Yolanda Gutierrez and Ana Torres. Playing only in their first year together, they provided extra incentive for the team. Another first-year doubles team was Thao Nguyen and Yolanda Johnson. Their improvement through the season helped the team greatly. Coach Thalia and the girls will do their best to come back next season and be on the Top!

This was the best year for the Boy's Varsity Tennis Team. The goal for the team was to be the Suburban League Champs, and possibly going to the third round in CIF playoffs. The entire varsity team, which came in second in league last year, along with Coach Espinoza were very optimistic of doing excellent this year.

This superb team was led by many returning one and two year varsity lettermen as well as many new players. This was a perfect combination for victory. The entire team worked tediously and collectively as a team should. They put forth all that they had and more in the name of "victory." As Coach Espinoza put it, "Glenn Pride aced a victory."

Up Agony Hill, down Mo Hill, around the lake and through the finish line the John Glenn High School Cross Country team finished another wonderful season. Although the team was fairly small they had a successful year. They contributed to the success of John Glenn High School's 25th Anniversary Celebration. Georgina Moreno, and Val Rami were the only two girls on the team, Georgina took control at all meets and also took 1st in league finals at La Mirada Park. The team worked hard, pushed each other to their limits and also enjoyed good times together throughout the season.

The Mat Is Where It's At. . .

Wrestling may appear to be just a couple of guys rolling around on a mat being judged by a referee. But there's more to it than meets the eye.

"Hard work pays off" as coaches FoFo Dominguez and Ralph Valle and the members of the wrestling team discovered. The source for the success enjoyed by the wrestling team this year came directly from hard work and time put in by the team preparing and improving themselves. The John Glenn Varsity Wrestling Team practiced every single day of the week for two and a half hours each day. With the help of returning alumnus Tony Mineo and team captains Mike Arellano, Allan Baluyot and Minh Vu the team had a vigorous work-out that consisted of drills, conditioning and losing excess body weight. Making weight was probably the biggest challenge. Some had to starve themselves only to stuff themselves after the meet was over.

In the end though, everyone agreed it was all worth the effort, as the team had, what most would consider, one of the best seasons in many years.

This year's team was coached again with the excellent abilities of Coach Robert Ewing. The team was led by captains Luis Ochoa and Leo Casillas.

The team consisted of very young players; they were mainly freshmen and sophomores. This was only a temporary setback, because this led to hopes of a better season next year. The team had great sportsmanship, and their team spirit continued throughout the season.

Coach Ewing was very pleased with the recognition the team received at pep rallies, though he wished more people would have been cheering them on out on the field during games.

For the past several years, JV Soccer has had the best record in Suburban League. Even though most of the JV. players were new, this year, they always did well in their games. The players always did their best to give a good impression to the supportive, enthusiastic crowd.

The JV's were a true international team with players from the United States, Mexico, China, India, Korea, and Tonga. It included members from 9th to 12th grade.

Coach Boyd Trimble

Like years past, the J.G.H.S. Varsity Baseball Team succeeded against all odds. The feeling of pride was felt as soon as the team took over the baseball field and remained until the game was over.

With the help of Coach Trimble and assistant Coach Drake, the team achieved many victories. Both of them helped all players in perfecting their skills and supported their achievements.

Their goal: to make playoffs and the chance to be Suburban League Champs. And who knows? With their hard working attitudes, maybe we'll see them in the World Series one of these days. Great job Varsity!

Coach Goode

The John Glenn J.V. Baseball Team had once again proven to be a strong Suburban League Competitor.

Starting out fresh and practicing daily, the team worked on developing the basic skills of baseball under the direction of Coach Goode.

The J.V. team gained much in the way of experience in teamwork. These skills, combined with the team's natural sportsmanship, proved to be very useful to the team.

John Glenn's Varsity Softball team had a successful season, filled with fun and growth. The team members were talented and had some members with full experience and skills.

The girl's Varsity Softball really had their minds set on C.I.F. but if nothing else they were going to enjoy softball season.

Their workouts consisted of batting, constant sprinting drills, all the learning skills needed to beat their opponents on the playing field. Coach, Warren Powell, was at his best in teaching these skills and working with the girls to make C.I.F.

The Girls Are All Right

This year the J.V. Softball team was coached by Frances Garcia, our gym attendant. The team was a young one, mainly made up of active lady eagles. They did their best and gained great experiences during their practices and games. Lady eagles worked hard all season long and always showed good sportsmanship.

Glenn can look forward to having an excellent team in future years based on the tradition that has been set by past and this year's team.

At Their Best!!

Glenn's upper grade athletes had to start somewhere, and what better place to start but their eighth grade year.

Football, track, soccer, softball, basketball, and volleyball are just sports to some, but to our eighth grade athletes they were a chance to get to know our system of playing sports. Although they might have played before, there was always a challenge. With the help of the coaches' guidance they built up their courage and spirit, making them want to get to the top; to be the best. They may have been little in size, but they were big in heart.

Moments like these were what made up many cherished memories at John Glenn this past year. Everyone was involved in some activity, either academically or athletically. These candid glimpses of the past year are only a few, from the many extra curricular activities we had at our school, from basketball games, to track meets, all the way to seniors and their parents attending financial aide workshops to prepare for college. To sum it all up, the past year at John Glenn saw alot of activity both inside classrooms and out. The year had its ups and downs, but through great effort on the part of most of Glenn's "family" the year was a "Silver Anniversary Success".

Department Memos

Fifteen years ago, the Reading Department began with hiring of a young novice named Mr. Sabella. He began the Reading program by teaching 5 Remedial Reading classes. From this humble beginning, the Reading Department has grown tremendously. It now consists of a Reading Lab complete with computers and has 10 faculty members. The Reading Department offered 8th-12th grade students the opportunity to improve their reading skills by teaching classes in remediation, developmental, higher level thinking skills and speed reading.

This year we were especially proud to announce the beginning of a new computerized learning center called PALS (Principal of the Alphabet Literacy System).

Imagine the changes in science in the last 25 years! Man stands on the moon, Voyages to outer space, the Space Shuttle carries payloads and the science dept. at John Glenn grew...More teachers, more students, more action, more hands-on lab experiences...great fun!

The innovative and creative science teach-ers developed programs to help students thru field trips, science fairs, and university summer programs.

The science dept. at Glenn H.S. led a very progressive program and was respected throughout the state of California.

As the 86-87 school year unfolded, the Fine Arts Department continued to develop innovative programs. The new 4 ARTS/HUMANITIES class had four teachers, specializing in one of the disciplines, teaching on a quarterly rotation.

Our Vidio Production class had a new home in RM 1005. Mrs. Edwards and her staff produced a weekly program on Falcon Cable TV-Homework Helpline.

Our theater students, as always, were deeply involved in the California Thespians.

The Ceramics program was as full as ever and going strong through the efforts of Mr. Wilson and the music program, under Mr. Mitchell's direction, was as great as ever and winning bigger and better trophies.

Traditionally we have always had a strong, creative yearbook with a hardworking staff. Mr. Garcia carried on this tradition successfully.

Regional Occupation Program, better known as ROP is designed to provide students with the basic skills needed to acquire jobs in the future. ROP training is instrumental in providing the student with the job skills needed to secure a good position.

If students have a need for their future, ROP is the answer.

Automation and technology have freed most Americans from the exhausting physical toil of previous generations. The physically educated man and women of the future must be able to make intelligent decisions concerning physical fitness and recreational pursuits. At John Glenn students learned the How, the Why, and the Fun of lifetime activity. Keep Active for the Health of It.

The major changes in our department over the past 25 years have been in curriculum. 25 years ago a student took one year of World Geography, one year of World History, one year of U.S. History, and one year of American Government and social problems. During the 1970's we went to a system of 9 week courses, which the students were free to choose from.

Another major change was the addition of the 8th grade to our campus, meaning that new students took U.S. History twice while on this campus.

A special concern for our department will be to find good teachers, with a knowledge of several subjects such as history, government, and economics, to replace the many members who will be retiring before 1990.

John Glenn has had eight grade class since 1978 but we have had "Core" style of learning only the last six years.

In Core we have incorporated a "School Within a School" approach where the eight graders are separated from the upper classmen as much as possible and given treatment more appro-priate to their needs.

Our students were grouped so that each individual can work to his/her greatest potential. One example of how this happened was through special math and reading labs.

This year we had the opportunity to extend much of this fine program to include the freshman class. We expect to see the same kind of continued growth.

During the late seventies, foreign language, along with many other electives, fell victim to decline in enrollment. First Latin and then French and German were eliminated from the curriculum. The eighties, however, brought a renewed interest in foreign language, and a year of foreign language or visual and performing arts was added to the high school graduation requirements. Thus, in the past few years foreign language has staged a comeback. This year there were five sections of French, four of German, and ten of Spanish. Also, third year classes of French, German, and Spanish were offered instead of being combined with second year.

In the last two years the Business Department has completely changed its image; we are now entirely computerized and have been chosen by the State as a Model Business Department.

Whether a student was planning to enter the world of work immediately after graduation or get a part-time job while attending college, the Business Department provided the training needed in today's job market.

The naming of
John Glenn High School may somewhat reflect the high interest and emphasis on science and mathematics twenty-five years ago. John Glenn and his exploits in the space program were definitely the result of mathematical accomplishments on a national scale.

Through the years the math program has attempted to sustain a curriculum in math which would meet the needs of students preparing for college and vocational schools and also provide the basic skills necessary to suc -ceed in the activities of day to day living.

The Industrial Technology department, chaired by Dave Hauske, made use of high technology to help our students prepare for their future careers.

Our Drafting program, taught by Mr.Monroe and Mr. Hollis, added a computer system to aid in producing high quality drawings called CAD.

The Woodworking class, taught by Mr.Monroe, added many new tools and machines to allow students to make professional quality wood products.

The metalworking program, taught by Mr. Wright, added several machines, including a computer controlled lathe, to prepare our students for machinists trades.

In Electronics, taught by Mr. Hauske, students learned the basis of electronics and the use of test equipment.

Pinocchio

Another year, another show BUT . . . this year our show was a original! In Children's Theatre the class decided to write their ow version of the classic Italian fairytale PINOCCHIO with a little bit o Disney thrown in for good measure. Pinocchio's conscience is sti around but in the form of an apprentice fairy who must earn her tru color by keeping Pinocchio out of mischief so he can become a REA boy. Needless to say there are pitfalls galore but good wins ou Pinocchio becomes a real boy and Bernie gets her fairy color, red.

Another important event for our Glenn actors was the Californi State Thespian Festival. We were deeply involved with the festival an for 6 years have had Glenn Thespians on the state board. This yea elected at the state festival, was Becky Whitley new state secretary an for the 4th year Alecia Hannum as director of publicity. Also we pe formed a scene from WAIT UNTIL DARK. Becky Whitley won an Ou standing Acting Award for her portrayal of the blind woman, Sus Hendrix.

The Celebration Ends With A Bang!!!

After 25 years John Glenn High has established itself within the world of California High Schools. The "Twenty-Fifth Anniversary", was the combined result of thousands of students coming through our doors from 1963 until today. At the close of the 1987 year the student body and staff could look back with pride on the accomplishments which they contributed, that placed John Glenn in the spotlight. In areas varied as athletics, music, and academics, each class has upheld the traditions that have gone before them.

As editor of the 1986-87 Yearbook, I can say it was a new experience filled with fun and responsibilities. To prepare for this year four members of the staff including myself, attended a Yearbook camp in Santa Barbara for a week. At camp we learned the fundamentals for putting together a Yearbook such as: cropping pictures, writing copy, and picking the right picture for a page. The staff was made up of 21 members. Each member worked on a specific section such as: Activities, Sports, Academics, and Classes. We all worked hard, met all our deadlines, sometimes ahead of time. The Yearbook Staff could have never accomplished the 1986-87 Yearbook without the help and guidance of our advisor, Mr. Garcia.

I want to thank all the people that made this yearbook happen. To our principal, Mr. Galvan, thank you for supporting us; to the student body, advisors, teachers, and coaches goes the appreciation of the entire Yearbook Staff for their cooperation, excused absences, interviews and patience; To Wally and Tony for always being there when we needed them, especially those "rush" jobs that made our deadlines; To Renee, a great big thank you for making sure everything was in order and done on time. And last but least, a very special "Thank You" to Miss Tonkavich: we appreciate all the beautiful artwork you did for us and all those hours you spent helping us out.

After such hard work devoted to this book and with great pride, I now wish to sit back, relax, and share the memories with you.

Tammy,

A girl I've known for a long time. Your real special to me because you understand what I feel. Remember your in the same situation as me. One day those guys of ours will learn that were not something to be played with but until then I guess we have to put up with the bull.

I wish you & Alex the best in the years to come. But remember take care of yourself. Oh and about the diet. I really am proud of you. Keep it up. It will soon all be over and well worth it.

God Bless

Have a great Summer

Many of the spring sports were very successful in their endeavors. The Track Team along with the Girls' Varsity Softball Team ended their seasons with pride and accomplishment. The track team sent many fine athletes such as Georgina Moreno to League finals for further competition in C.I.F. The Golf Team like the other sports tried its best and accomplished what it set out to do.

The Varsity Baseball team made a great comeback as they won their last two games to clinch the Suburban League Championship title. The baseball team, as co-champs, entered C.I.F. playoffs by playing against La Serna High School. They gave their best and worked hard as a team, but they were eventually defeated.

The Varsity Tennis Team had the best year ever since 1977. This year, with a powerhouse of nine returning players, the team obliterated anyone that came in its path. They were Suburban League Champions — first time since 1977 — and had an overall score of 14-1. They advanced to second round in C.I.F. after defeating Brea Olinda with a score of 11-7. They played Covina in the second round but after a great effort by the whole team, they lost 7-11.

SENIOR VICTORY!

Activities, practices, late night toilet papering sessions — this is what Powder Puff is all about, and this year was no different. Looking back to years past, this year's Powder Puff game was definitely the most exciting ever. In the last five minutes of the game the teams were tied and forced into a play-off. Though the Juniors tried hard, the Seniors beat them out. The best part of Powder Puff '87 was that even though the Juniors and Seniors seemed pretty much against each other during the week and the game itself, afterwards we were all still one big family.

1. Juniors — go back to the top.

Powder Puff Court . . .

The 1987 Powder Puff court dazzled the eyes of the spectators. Who could forget the flashing of their voluptuous bodies, and their muscular legs. The princes contributed to the excitement of Powder Puff and participated in snack and lunch activities such as the slave auction. Amidst the roaring of the crowd and painful agony of the football players King Puff Jim Boos was crowned. Everyone enjoyed the 1986-1987 John Glenn High School Powder Puff game. It was a week of excitement and a night to remember.

The Awards Night Ceremony this year included Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. The purpose of the program was to honor students for outstanding achievements in all areas of study, and to award scholarships to seniors. This was especially important to many Seniors because they received financial support from influential organizations such as L.U.L.A.C., Kiwanis, Soroptomist, Bank of America, Rotary Club and many others.

Many organizations that were closer to home supported the college bound senior too. The PTA, PTSA, Cinco de Mayo Scholarship fund and Jack-in-the-Box all contributed much needed funds for recipients of the scholarships. Besides scholarships, certificates and plaques were awarded to exceptional students. Students were recognized for their achievements in the basic studies of school, and also in vocational training and extra-curricular activities. All in all, the awards ceremony brought encouragement and recognition to those students who deserved it most. The special moment of the night was when Mr. Galvan recognized our 3 co-salutatorians, Tushar Nandwana, Sherry Lim, and Quynh An with their silver medals, and the highest award went to Susan Yonezawa, Valedictorian for the Mighty Class of 1987.

Final Look At '87

This year's graduation was a very memorable event for all to cherish especially the Class of '87. '87 was a year filled with memories that none of the Seniors could ever forget. This year along with the Valedictorian, Susan Yonezawa, there were three Salutatorians, Quynh T. An, Sherry Anne Lim, and Tushar P. Nandwana.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Quynh T. An. The Invocation and the Welcome were both led by class officers Roxanne C. Parial and Joseph P. Jornadal respectively. The theme for this year's graduation was "Nothing is going to stop us now" by Starship, and it was greatly enhanced by the speeches of the A.S.B. President, Felicia Hayes, Susan Yonezawa, Sherry Anne Lim, Tushar P. Nandwana, and My Anh Le.

It was a beautiful sight as 300 seniors proceeded down the aisle in their red, blue, or white robes to receive their diplomas. However, the greatest joy for the seniors came after Michelle Aguilar did the benediction — they all had graduated and were ready to face the world after four, long years at John Glenn. Nothing could stop them now!

2. Lovey Mataele enhances the ceremony by singing a song that asks us "Do You Know Where You're Going To?"
3. The moment has arrived.

Bobby. Stay free ☮ Sweet

Angie —
Even though we dont talk to much anymore I still think your a very good friend, you were the first friend I had over here and you were a good friend too and I never forget that either, and I know that after you graduate I probably wont see you again so take care and remember that you will always have a friend in me, so keep in touch. OK, and try not to party so hard, well I better finish
this now so take care and I'll see you later

A beautiful, short, cute, young lady! We twins are going to miss you when you leave us. Please never forget that you have two little Twins down here at John Glenn. So, never forget us. I realize that we aren't going to be able to protect you anymore after this year. But I will protect you how to fight really good. He's really strong, and he knows how to fight! Ik. Come so we can put together a future and tell Ruby & as strong as both of us. Good luck in the future & miss them very much. Bobby that we love & Tell them from the Twins.

Dear Angie:
We are really going miss ya when you graduate, like My Brother did up there. Don't ever 4 get about us, cause we won't forget about you. Come and visit us K, visit us at work, and I'll give you free stuff. Tell Bernie & the twins Bobby & Ruby that we said hi & gotta go now cause My stupid Brother took up all the room up there. Love ya Angie, Bye
